Audrey Anyaele is a Director in the firm's Jersey City office, focusing her practice on the litigation of toxic tort and complex commercial litigation matters.

Audrey is experienced in all stages of litigation in state and federal courts, including trials to verdict, arbitration, mediation, taking and defending depositions, and discovery and motion practice. She focuses her practice areas on environmental litigation, products liability, construction defect, toxic torts, and general liability and related practice areas. She also has experience in researching and examining complex environmental concerns, including matters pertaining to the Clean Water Act, the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA), and the Resource Conservation Recovery Act (RCRA). Audrey previously worked as an associate at a law firm in New Jersey where she represented commercial and municipal entities in matters related to employment discrimination, labor laws, and civil rights litigation. She also served as a law clerk to the Honorable Peter A. Buchsbaum, J.S.C. (Ret.) in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Hunterdon County.
